Meet the builder:

Denman Construction has been building homes in the Flathead Valley for over 30 years. The vision for Denman Construction began with my dad's one-liners, his heart of gold, and a passion to be the best builder in Brookings, South Dakota. His dream soon became mine, and on a cold January day in 1977, with a '62 Chevy pickup truck, $500, and my dad's old tools. We were in business.

We're in the building business, the people business. Today we are here to fulfill dreams with a dedicated and professional organization, in partnership with our customers. As an organization, Denman Construction will provide the finest craftsmanship and personal service while delivering projects on time and on budget.

Whether you want to build a new home or remodel any part of your existing home, Denman Construction is committed to bringing unique designs and architectural ideas to every project, while providing a wonderful and rewarding experience for our customers.
